

Initial permeability through the injector. In every map the near-well plateau IS k_pmax and the background IS k_pmin, so slip can only raise the far field toward a value the initial condition already contains.

